

We've got something for you
No matter the industry.

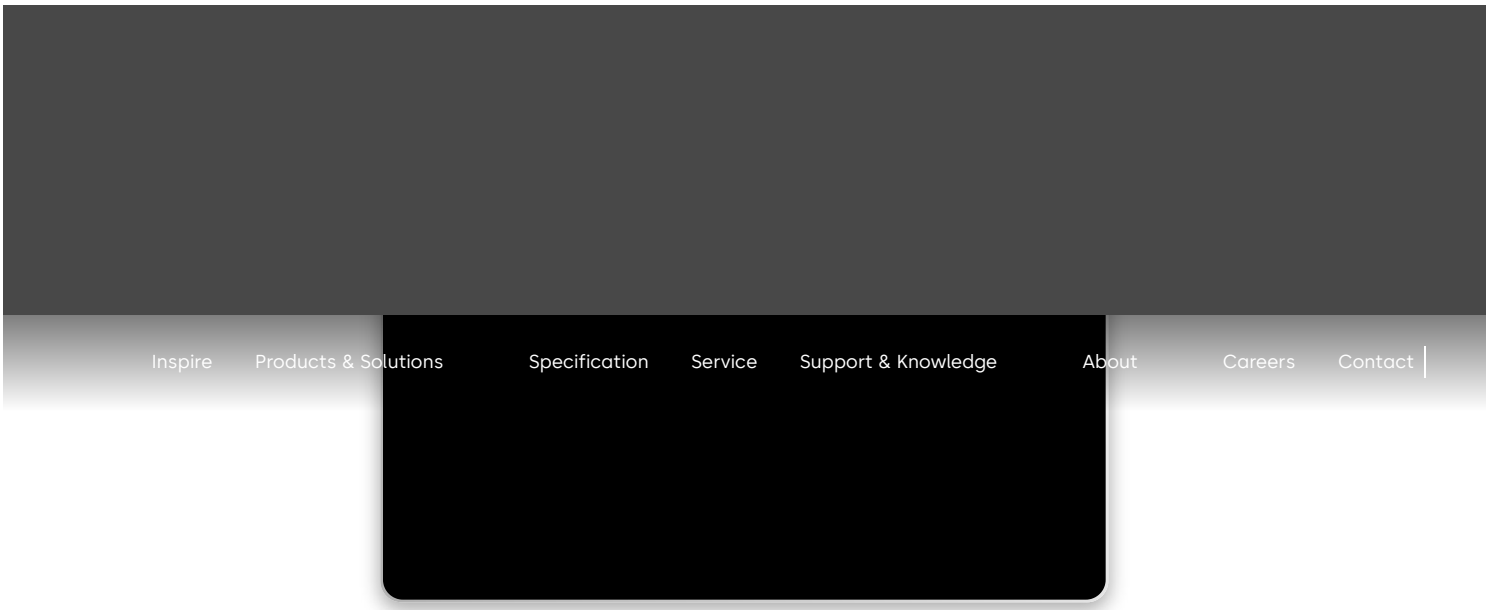

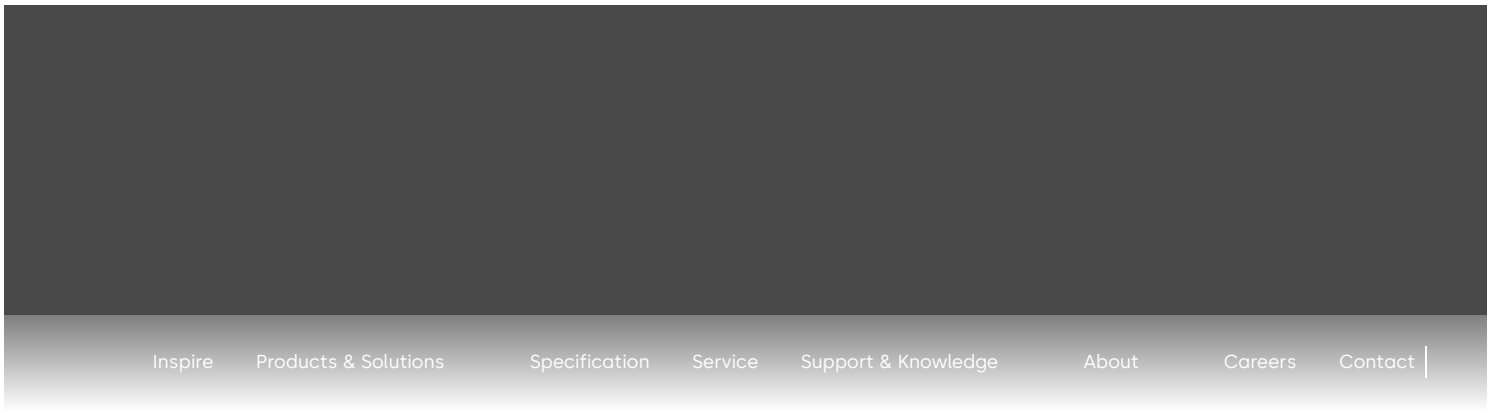

Discover our innovative 3D city model that allows customers to explore our industries in detail. In this virtual environment, each building represents a specific industry, providing an immersive and personalized experience.

By navigating the city, you can easily access information and demonstrations of our products in real-world settings, such as a hospital for the healthcare sector, a school for the educational sector, and many others.

This interactive tool not only enhances understanding of our products, but also provides a visually appealing and efficient way to discover how they can be integrated into different environments.

Our purpose

For every place that matters

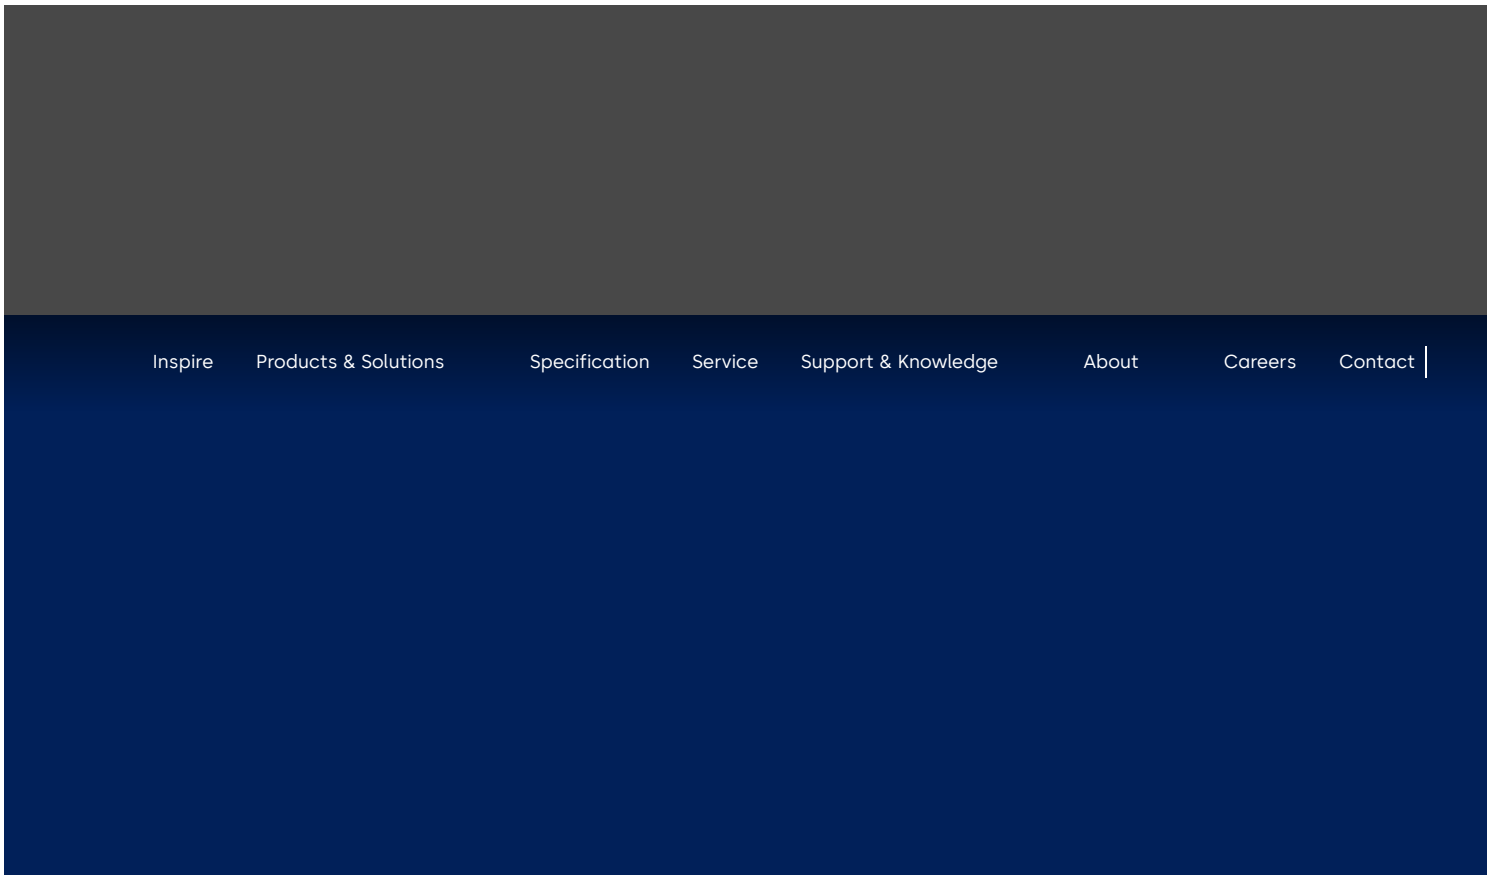

Our purpose reflects the contribution we make to society: we are where our communities come together – from locations across town to locations across the world. At schools and universities, in stadiums, airports, hospitals and workplaces. We provide safety, security and sustainability, allowing people to move seamlessly and shape their lives the way they want. #ForEveryPlaceThatMatters.
